What We Do

Advanced Analytics

Our data science and business intelligence experts help our clients make data-driven decisions to achieve their business goals. We use cutting-edge tools and technologies to provide end-to-end solutions which equip government entities and their users to increase analytics efficacy, create a data-driven culture, and drive results.

Digital Transformation

Analytica leverages DevSecOps, Agile, automation, and continuous integration/continuous delivery to help our clients adopt and implement modern technologies.

Management Consulting

Our goal is to drive mission outcomes faster than our clients could on their own and improve the lives of citizens by helping organizations solve their most pressing challenges. Our strategic and management consulting services range from change management and program integrity to agile transformation.

Enterprise Data Management

We provide a flexible enterprise data management approach to meet our client's needs and empower continuous improvement and self-sufficiency.

Human Centered Design

We know any insight gained from data is only as impactful as it is understandable by the end user. Our holistic approach merges achieving our clients' business goals with meeting the needs of the people using their systems.

Training and Coaching

Analytica is dedicated to providing expert training and agile coaching to ensure successful delivery of our services. We offer structured in-person and remote training, demos, and training materials to help our clients successfully accomplish their mission, as well as adopt an agile and data-driven mindset.
